

Max Davis

Max specialises in high value, multi-jurisdictional disputes involving fraud and corruption in the financial services and banking, energy, technology and procurement sectors. He has litigated in the High Court, Court of Appeal and Privy Council, and as far afield as in the Cayman Islands and Tanzania. He also has extensive experience of complex multi-party LCIA arbitration.

In tandem, Max has a burgeoning practice in Public and Administrative Law disputes, with a particular focus on Judicial Review in a wide variety of sectors including aviation, environmental and planning, healthcare and regulatory, immigration, pensions, public inquiries, procurement and tax. He is currently part of the team acting for a client in high profile judicial review proceedings challenging the fitness of the Windrush Compensation Scheme. He is an active member of the Young Lawyers Committee of the Commonwealth Lawyers Association.

Max is admitted to practise in England and Wales