

Commonwealth Lawyers Association

Upholding the rule of law

Media Release

20th Commonwealth Law conference, 2017

“Thriving in a global world; building on the rule of law”

The Commonwealth Lawyers Association is pleased to announce that the programme for 20th Commonwealth Law Conference is now available online. The forty-eight session programme will include keynote speakers The Hon. Justice Thakur, former Attorney General of India, the distinguished broadcaster, Mr James Naughtie and a number of senior lawyers from around the world reflecting the rich diversity of the Commonwealth.

From March 20-24th, 2017 the beautiful city of Melbourne, Australia will play host to hundreds of lawyers and legal professionals, who will explore and discuss topical issues for the profession today including cybercrime, the protection of children in the Commonwealth, the death penalty, and freedom of speech.

We are delighted to include among our speakers The Hon Michael Kirby AC CMG, who will discuss developments in Judicial Appointments, and pleased to welcome Ms Lee Riva Williams, Counsel at CNN in the USA, who will discuss how the use of drones will impact on the future law we help to make and enforce.

There's a host of international topics and speakers that you won't want to miss. Registration is now open:

www.commonwealthlawconference.org/registration

Or visit the website www.commonwealthlawconference.org to view the programme. Follow us on Twitter for special rate deals for a limited time only.